

Jeremy Pelter

Chief Financial Officer and Director of Administration, Economics and Statistics Administration

Mr. Pelter serves as the Chief Financial Officer and Director of Administration for the Economics and Statistics Administration (ESA). He is responsible for the planning, budgeting, performance, and financial management activities for ESA and the Bureau of Economic Analysis (BEA).

Prior to joining ESA in 2016, Mr. Pelter served for over eight years with the U.S. Small Business Administration in several senior financial and operational capacities. Additionally, Mr. Pelter was an inaugural Fellow of the White House Leadership Development Program, supporting trade policy, for the National Economic Council. Prior to his federal career, Mr. Pelter worked in the field service and financial management offices of the Boy Scouts of America in the Washington, D.C. metropolitan area.

Mr. Pelter earned his Bachelor's degree in Political Science from Indiana University and is pursuing a Master's degree in Management from the University of Maryland, University College. He holds certificates in Public Leadership and Program Management from the Brookings Institution and American University, respectively.